The value of choice

Whether you're a specialist installer or a manufacturer of washroom cubicles, you'll appreciate the value of choice. Different projects call for different styles, materials and finishes, but where quality and aesthetics really matter, there's no better choice than stainless-steel. Robust and dependable, it minimises servicing costs, and it's readily available in a wide range of designs and finishes.

At Dudley Industries we've been designing and manufacturing washroom dispensers for over 75 years and we've learnt a lot during that time. We specialise in Stainless Steel known for its strength, durability and hygienic properties.
